

DAILY RECORD

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1873.

LOCAL ITEMS.

A THIEF CAPT.—Often have our readers, in perusing the morning's Record, seen the name of that notorious, if not celebrated individual, "Chicken-Charley." Often has he been the means of furnishing an item for the local column. Not seldom has he been brought before the Justice's Court, and for many days he has sojourned within that great-est of our public institutions, the County Jail. And yet he once remarked that he was unjustly credited with achievements which he had not performed. He once said, when in the clutches of the law, "You're always accusing me of stealing, but you can't catch me. You never prove that I steal anything." Yesterday afternoon, however, he was caught—physically caught—by a minor whose cabin is beyond the Divide. This gentleman had misused property to the amount of about $25, and thought he had good reason to suspect "Chicken-Charley" of having stolen it. Yesterday he saw that light-fingered personage passing not far from his cabin. He straightway went to meet the thief and asked him to return the stolen articles. Charles replied, with a look of indignation and injured innocence, "You're always accusing me of stealing your things. Now I want you to stop. I haven't got them, nor I didn't steal them." The minor replied, "You did steal them, and you will have to return them." Charles put his hand into his back pocket, as if to draw a weapon, whereupon the minor, with an arm strong from repeated swinging of the sledge hammer on the drill, dealt his opponent a blow upon the side of the head, which felled him to the earth. As he fell, a razor, supposed to be the weapon which he intended to draw, fell from his pocket. By dint of repeated blows with his fist the minor prevailed upon Charles to admit that he had stolen the goods, and to promise their return. Between every blow he was asked, "Will you ever do it again?" and he replied with tears and lamentations, "No-o-o-o." It is to be hoped that he never will.

THE AMERICAN FLAG.—At the closing of the San Francisco Stock Board yesterday afternoon American flag stock was $8 per share. This is a rise of $5.50 since Tuesday last. The number of shares sold yesterday was large, 3,270. Such a rise as this leads to the belief, either that the stock market is at work with the shares, or that the developments in the mine itself warrant the rise in value of its stock. Every one seems to know this fact, but which of the two causes is now at work no one can tell. Yesterday the Superintendent remarked that the indications were very favorable. On Monday the stock closed at $24, Tuesday $44, Wednesday $57, Thursday at $4, and yesterday at $8. Such being the case, if the rise depends only on indications, we should say that those indications must be very favorable.

HUNTING PARTY.—Judge Fuller and J. C. Foster returned yesterday evening from an extensive hunt, having been absent 14 days and 13 nights from home. They traversed the whole country from Mount Davidson to the Wasatch range in quest of game. They encountered many dangers, surmounted many difficulties and made many hair-breadth escapes, but returned home in triumph yesterday afternoon, bearing with them as trophies one jay-bird, a sparrow-hawk, and two rabbits, the latter of which they purchased from an Indian of the Indian reservation. It is understood that payment for the rabbits was offered in greenbacks, but the untutored savage not being advised of the approach of specie payments, declined the "legal tender," and the hunters were compelled to go down into their gowns for metallic substance. "Such is life."

A NEW DISCOVERY.—Late yesterday evening our reporter was informed of a new discovery. It is said that a ledge of gold-bearing quartz has been found in Pioche. Our reporter called upon John R. James, Superintendent of the American flag mine, who was said to be one of the parties directly interested. For information. As it was already nearly dark, and a thorough examination could not be made until to-day, he requested that no opinion on the merits of the mine be made public in this morning's paper. A representative of the Record will visit the mine to-day, and report fully in Sunday's issue.

FRANCIS'S CASE.—Yesterday was the day set by the District Court for the execution of the death sentence upon Owen Ferguson for murder. A supersedeas having been issued by Justice Huley, of our Supreme Court, all proceedings under the order of the District Court are suspended. The supersedeas does not touch the merits of the case; the order is granted upon petition of the condemned through counsel. The law points involved are now before the Supreme Court. We shall keep our readers advised of the progress of the case.

AUCTION SALE TO-DAY.—James Dean, auctioneer, will commence to-day to sell off the stock of Williams & Errant on Main street, corner of Lacour. Those wishing to purchase clothing, hats, shoes, trunks, crockery, glassware, etc., had better attend to-day and days following until the stock is closed out. Jim swears he will sell goods cheaper than they can be obtained anywhere this side of San Francisco.

MIXE CODY, formerly a resident of Pioche, got into a row at Bingham, Utah, on Sunday last, with a Deputy Sheriff named McGenty. The two had a boxing match, in which Cody was the victor. McGenty went to a saloon, got a drink and a revolver, and returning aimed at Cody's head and fired. The ball entered Cody's right hand. The wound is serious, though amputation will probably not be necessary.

A SUGGESTION.—A disagreeable person suggests that all those departing for the San Juan country should leave their names, and any little facts concerning themselves that might be interesting to their friends, at the Record office. He says it would be a consolation to their friends to know how they came to their death.

THERE is plenty of room in the County Jail now. The many former boarders at that place, who are now committing depredations, great and small, would fill it to its utmost capacity.

DEPARTURE.—Dr. D. L. Deal will be temporarily absent for a short time, and during his absence has entrusted his professional business to Dr. C. F. Phillips.

DISTRICT COURT.—The Raymond & Ely case, Kentucky trial was yesterday continued in the District Court, Hon. W. H. Beatty presiding.

LAW.—J. W. Hume and J. B. Wilson will arrive by stage from Hamilton to-night.

A Good Suggestion.

Editor Record: As Winter is nearly upon us, and as the long nights incident to that time of year are likely to hang heavily on our hands, in the probable absence of amusements in our isolated locality, I would suggest the delivery of a series of lectures, or discourses, at some convenient place in the city, at night, say one or two a week. I would further propose that a small fee for admittance to the lecture, or discourse, be charged; and then that the net proceeds thereof be put into the hands of some suitable persons to be distributed among those in our midst who may be found needing aid through the winter. We will thereby blend pleasure and entertainment with no worse company than charity.

If there should not be persons—may whole families—here this winter, who will greatly need assistance, it will be something new in mining towns situated this far west.

I never delivered a lecture in my life, and very much doubt whether I have any capacity in that line; but in view of the premises, I will volunteer to try and deliver one or two lectures, or discourses, or some readings, during the coming winter, on nights to be agreed upon.

If I would venture to do so, I could mention plenty of professional and other gentlemen, with abundance of capacity, now in our midst, who could each acquire himself creditably in the matter alluded to above.

[A good suggestion. We shall refer to the matter again.—Ed. Record.]

A PRIZE IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.—The Principal of the Pioche public school, about three weeks ago, offered a prize to the pupil who should first learn by heart, and recite to him, the boundaries and the name of the capital of each State in the Union. The premium offered was the sum of five dollars in gold coin. Yesterday Vincent Frazier, a boy about eleven years of age and in the primary class, went up to his teacher and gave a correct recitation of all that was required. The prize was awarded to him. The boy deserves credit for his perseverance.

ASHIM & BRO. to-day makes, through our advertising columns, an announcement of another startling reduction in prices. They advertise in prose and verse, and if any inducement can be given to these people to buy their Winter supplies of groceries, provisions, clothing, boots, shoes, and, in short, everything which tends to make life happy, that inducement is held forth by Ashim & Brother. Enterprise like theirs should not go unrewarded, and we trust it will not.

BALL.—On the 7th of this month the members of the Meagher Guard will give a ball. Great preparations are being made. In our advertising columns to-morrow full particulars will be given.

R. M. COOK puts a card under "New To-day" in this morning's issue. He promises to do everything in his line, and to do it well.

GEO. CHANDLER.—The trial of the individual whose name heads this item has been postponed until to-day.

OUR WEATHER is now mild, and the air is very clear, the Patterson range, sixty miles distant, being distinctly visible.

J. R. WILSON, State Senator from this county, will arrive by the Hamilton stage, from California, this evening.

GO TO H. KRANE'S Photograph Gallery on Lacour street, over the New York Bakery, for your A. No. 1 pictures. Prices reduced to one-half. Satisfaction guaranteed. Cartes de Visite $4.00 per dozen. Ferrotypes for 50c apiece. n-lf

FRANCIS has astonished the world by the promptness with which she has met the German claim for five millions.

Besides, she is prosperous notwithstanding her unsettled condition. Where the money came from to pay such an immense sum and not leave the nation bankrupt, is a financial mystery. Her trade for the first six months of 1873 shows imports of value equivalent to $1,561,000,000 francs, against 1,678,000,000 for a corresponding period in 1872.

Her exports were 1,952,000,000, against 1,727,000,000 francs. She is gradually getting on to an immense army footing, and is learning from Prussia. Her soldiery before long will number 2,000,000, and the next war, if it come, with Prussia or any other nation, will be a gigantic and perhaps final struggle for power.

THERE is a Mexican lady at the Mission of San Gabriel, who is 134 years old. Her husband started as a soldier, with Junipero Serrero, the founder of all the Missions of California, and she followed him a short time afterward. She was a buxom, middle-aged woman when the Mission of San Juan Capistrano was built. As an eternal warning to people addicted to tobacco, we will state that this antique dame has doubtless shortened her existence a number of years by using the weed, for she is an inveterate smoker, and its ill-effects are readily detected in the lines of premature old age which furrow her brow. The old lady converses very freely and pleasantly, and to one who speaks Spanish, an interview with her is of the most interesting character.—[Los Angeles Express.]

The New York World predicts that the future city of America will be located in New Jersey, and will include the present cities of Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Patterson and Elizabeth, covering an area as great as that of London. A bill will be introduced in the Legislature of Jersey this winter to incorporate all these places under one charter. The combined population will be over 400,000. New York will have to look out for her laurels.

FINNEY, the young man who was arraigned on suspicion of having been concerned in the Green murder, says the Eureka Sentinel of October 25, returned on last night's stage from Hamilton. We understand that he proposes to reside in Eureka long enough to vindicate himself from every tint of suspicion that might cling to him in connection with that diabolical crime. He has always asserted his innocence, and at the same time maintained that he would be able to establish it to the entire satisfaction of the community. We know of no disposition in any quarter to persecute him. He was unfortunately connected in the sale of horses for the murdered man, and this, coupled with the stories of Matheny, led many persons to believe that he knew something of the killing. He has no right to blame the officers or any one else for the very undesirable position in which he has been placed. As stated above, there were circumstances tending to establish his guilt, and this being the case, it was right and proper that he should be placed in the hands of the law. Having been discharged by two Grand Jurors, no one is now justified in viewing him in any other light than an innocent but unfortunate man.
